

“Technical Manufacturing Corporation’s mission is to distinguish ourselves in the industry as a world-class contract electronics manufacturer whereby the electronics manufacturing service support that we provide to our customers form an integral, reliable, valuable and indispensable component of their overall success. To realize this mission, we will strive to manufacture products that provide for safe operation based upon high quality workmanship which are delivered when required to our customers without excuse. Our ability to provide this level of service is only possible with the full support and understanding of our employees and supply chain partners who are inspired by a Quality Management System that cultivates a culture of continuous improvement throughout the organization and eliminates, controls, or minimizes risk at all stages throughout the manufacturing process.”
